

The trip to Switzerland

Switzerland, a country located in the Alps system, including beautiful views and different climates. It has a population of 8,1 million and it's capital city Bern. There are more informations that I know, but being able to go and live the Switzerland's atmosphere for me was highly exciting.

On Friday I said good bye to my friends. The same happened on Sunday with my family. Other people said that I was over reacting but for me this was the first time that I was away from my family alone. But either way I was waiting and imagining the things and the places that I would visit and also to meet Julia for the first time. My imaginary didn't betrayed me, so this beautiful thing happened.

In the early morning I got up, got ready and took my luggage. With my father we went to the station where we would meet and go to the airport. If I'm being honest, I was a little nervous because it was my first time in the airplane. But after the trip I saw that it wasn't that scary how the others said. That half an hour on the plane was very beautiful because I got the chance to see some breath taking views. We arrived at Geneva's airport, then by train we travelled to Lozana till our destination, Bern. We arrived at Neufeld gymnasium and we saw our friends. When I met Julia, I realized that we were kinda the same so I was very happy to find someone like me. She was the nicest, kindest, smartest person that I have ever met. I was very lucky to be paired with such an amazing person. We went to her house and I met her family. They were happy to have me at their home and so was I to be at their home. After I unpacked everything, Julias father took us to see a near by town. We had a great time. After our little tour we went home and ate dinner. Our fun came to an end, because it was bed time and we needed to rest because tomorrow was a big day upon us.

The next morning we woke up early, ate breakfast, packed our lunch and headed to the place where we would all meet. The plans for that day were wonderful. This day was more like a hiking day for us because, we went hiking and saw the highest mountains there. We walked, about half an hour but it was worth seeing all those views, that were once in a lifetime opportunity. In shorter details the whole day was just touring around and enjoying the Switzerland's nature, which was my favorite.

8 May 2019

It was such a nice day, sunny and me being excited. This day was one of my favorites because we went to Neufeld gymnasium. I guess the reason why I was excited for this day, was seeing and living a day in a Swiss school. I was lucky to go on a Biology, Psychology and History class. The way the teacher teaches the students was a whole different level, and I liked it. It was understandable, easy and a way to make the students more interested in their studies. The teachers were very calm and nice.

All I have to say is that everything that they have shown us at their school was amazing.

What's much more better was me, Julia and her family. Every night we would play game boards and they were the best. We would laugh so much and just have a great time which will always be in my memories. So thank you Julia and your family for just being the best in every aspect.

This day we also had permission to see our relatives that live in Switzerland. I had a great time with my aunt and my uncle. This day was memorable and every thing I could ask, so thank you everyone.♡

This Thursday we had a city tour around Bern. Unfortunately, Julia didn't join me because she had school that day. But on the bright side we went and visited some of the most antique buildings. We went around the city, visited (Bernese Minster) a historic cathedral, the Albert Einstein museum, the bear zoo, also visited Rathous and finally the Parliament.

It was a fantastic day for me, to see all those amazing and unforgettable places. We finished our day at the dinner, at the music teachers house. We all had an incredible and unforgettable night. As the night came to an end me, Julia and her parents headed home. After we arrived home I started to pack my luggage with Julias help . The next morning I said goodbye to Julias parents and thanked them for their hospitality and just being the best. Then we went to the train station and that's where the sad part comes, I said goodbye to Julia because I knew that I would miss her. If I'm being honest that was the time when I could not stop my tears. But happily I knew that I would see her next year.

But most importantly, I wanna thank Julia and her family for welcoming me and giving me the best time there, in Bern. I could have not asked for a better place to stay so thank you.

Can't wait to see you and have the best time.

Sincerely yours: A. H.
